

There's no Lego's in Soccer

Chad McHenry can still hear the words from a kindergarten soccer player that helped lead him to develop his philosophy about coaching. The boy had just scored his third goal but never played defense and didn't seem to care about his team or anything but the goals. "I scored three goals - that's $60 in Lego's!" the jubilant kindergartner yelled. "I get $20 in Lego's per goal!"

As Coach Chad developed a better understanding of the Lego-goal exchange rate, he realized that many of the things youth soccer was supposed to be about - teamwork, building confidence, trying new things, having fun - were being ignored. He didn't set out to change the soccer world, but Coach Chad's teams show that youth soccer can be about all those things and more. Come join the fun today!

ROCKIN' SOCCER - FUTSAL!

Come Get Out of the Cold!

What Exactly Is Futsal? The word Futsal comes from shortening the Spanish phrase "Futbol de Salon" which literally translates to indoor soccer. Brazilians swear by it and take those well-honed skills into their outdoor games. The game is played in the gym without the use of sidewalls. Divided safely by age and skills. Please wear indoor athletic/court shoes. No cleats allowed/shin guards required!
